Product's definition

Category

In which category the product is classified ?

"Consumer Products" under the Canada Consumer Product Safety Act

"Energy-using products" under the Energy Efficiency Act (and provincial regulations)

"Electrical Equipment" under the Canada Electric Code

If the product contains batteries (and comes with batteries), these batteries might be considered "dangerous goods" subject to the Transportation of Dangerous Goods Act

If the product emits radio emissions, it can be classified as a type of radio equipment covered by the Radiocommunications Act:

- Radio Apparatus
- Interference Causing Equipment
- Radio-sensitive equipment

Definition

What is the exact definition of the product ?

And if it exists, what is the interpretation of the authorities regarding it ?

Consumer Product

"consumer product" means a product, including its components, parts or accessories, that may reasonably be expected to be obtained by an individual to be used for non-commercial purposes, including for domestic, recreational and sports purposes, and includes its packaging.

Radio equipment

Radio apparatus, defined as "a device or combination of devices intended for, or capable of being used for, radiocommunication";

Interference-causing equipment, defined as "any device, machinery or equipment, other than radio apparatus, that causes or is capable of causing interference to radiocommunication"; or

Radio-sensitive equipment, defined as "any device, machinery or equipment, other than radio apparatus, the use or functioning of which is or can be adversely affected by radiocommunication emissions".

Electrical Equipment

Electrical equipment is defined as "any apparatus, appliance, device, fitting, fixture, luminaire, machinery, material, or thing used in or for, or capable of being used in or for, the generation, transformation, transmission, distribution, supply, or utilization of electric power or energy and, without restricting the generality of the foregoing, includes any assemblage or combination of materials or things that is used, or is capable of being used or adapted, to serve or perform any particular purpose or function when connected to an electrical installation, notwithstanding that any of such materials or things may be mechanical, metallic, or non-electric in origin".

Energy Using products

Means products that are prescribed by the Energy Efficiency Regulations. This includes 'electronic products' under Division 9 of the Energy Efficiency Regulations.

Bluetooth devices may fall under these regulations, but this will be on a product-by-product basis.

Sub-Category Referrals

A. If the product comes with batteries, see 'Electronic/Measuring Devices - Batteries' subcategory.

B. For regulations for energy-using products and electrical products, that are also subject to the CCPSA, see 'Electronic/Measuring Devices - Chargers' subcategory.

C. If product qualifies as radio equipment under the Radiocommunications Act, see 'Electronic/Measuring Devices - Radio Equipment' subcategory.

Comments

Depending on the category or categories into which the Bluetooth items fall, they will be subject to one or more sets of requirements. First, there are requirements applicable to all Consumer products in Canada (referred to as "Consumer products"). Next, there are requirements applicable to all electrical equipment (referred to as "electrical equipment"). Next, there are requirements applicable to items subject to the Radiocommunication Regulations (referred to as "radio or interference-causing equipment"). Finally, there are requirements applicable to items subject to the Energy Efficiency Regulations (referred to here as "Items subject to the Energy Efficiency Regulations").

Bluetooth items will therefore be subject only to the requirements applicable to the category or categories into which they fall. For the requirements applicable to each of these categories of items, please refer to the “Electronic/Measuring Devices – Chargers” subcategory

With regards to products subject to the Energy Efficiency Regulations at the provincial level, please note the legislation provided in the “Electronic/Measuring Devices – Chargers” section.

* Please note, however, that more information regarding the nature, composition, etc. of each specific product would be necessary in order to make a determination as to which category the product falls under and which regulatory regimes apply to the product. Please note that additional regulatory and/or permit requirements may also apply depending on the product's composition, nature, etc.
